D'Amato, the Placentia City Administrator, is accused of helping Becker participate in the making of two contracts in which Becker had a financial interest. The first contract, executed on April 4, 2000, created the Orange North-American Trade Rail Access Corridor Authority (ONTRAC), a joint power authority. The second contract engaged Christopher Becker as Executive Director of ONTRAC while he was employed concurrently as Placentia's Director of Public Works. ONTRAC was formed to facilitate a railroad lowering project in the City of Placentia. Originally budgeted at $300 million, projected costs to complete the railroad lowering plan burgeoned to over $500 million, before the lack of sufficient funding forced the abandonment of the project in 2005. Becker is accused of making more than $500,000 over his regular salary ($110,000) and benefits as Placentia's Director of Public Works through the formation of these contracts. During his employment as Executive Director of ONTRAC from April 2000 until the fall of 2005, Christopher Becker is accused of making more than $1.3 million. D'Amato is accused of helping in the formation of the two contracts knowing that Becker had a financial interest in both of the contracts. He is further accused of not investigating the possible conflict of interest even though he was informed of the issue within weeks of the formation of both contracts. Instead, D'Amato withheld information or misinformed other city officials regarding the conflict of interest and the legality of the contracts.
